

Earn 50,000 Bonus Aeroplan[®] * Miles*

▶ New film challenges DDT myths and lies that have caused millions of needless deaths

3 Billion and Counting

By Paul Driessen September 11, 2010 | Comments | Print friendly |

f Share 31

t Tweet 8

p Pin it

+ Share 13

We will eradicate malaria by 2010, stricken families were promised a few years ago. Well, 2010 is nearly gone and, instead of eradication, we have more malaria than before ... and a new target date: 2015.

Unless malaria control policies change, that date too will come and go. Billions will still be at risk of getting malaria. Hundreds of millions will continue getting the disease. Millions will die or become permanently brain-damaged. And poverty and misery will continue ravaging Third World communities.

For years, malaria strategies have been dominated by insecticide-treated bed nets, Artemisia-based drugs, improved diagnostics and hospitals, educational campaigns, and a search for vaccines against highly complex plasmodium parasites. All are vital, but not nearly enough.

Notably absent in all too many programs has been vector control – larvicides, insecticides and repellants, to break the malaria victim-to-mosquito-to-healthy-human transmission cycle, by reducing mosquito populations and keeping the flying killers away from people. Dr. William Gorgas employed these methods to slash malaria and yellow fever rates during construction of the Panama Canal a century ago.

They are just as essential today. But well-funded environmental pressure groups vilify, attack and stymie their use, callously causing needless suffering and tragedy. They especially target the use of DDT.

Spraying the walls and eaves of houses once or twice a year with this powerful spatial repellent keeps 80-90% of mosquitoes from even entering a home; irritates any that do enter, so they don't bite; and kills any that land. DDT is a long-lasting mosquito net over entire households. No other chemical, at any price, can do this. And no one (certainly not any eco pressure group) is working to develop one.

This miracle chemical had helped prevent typhus and malaria during and after World War II, and completely eradicate malaria in the United States, Canada and Europe. It was then enlisted in an effort to rid the entire world of malaria. After initial successes, DDT ran into an unexpected roadblock in 1969.

As physician Rutledge Taylor chronicles in his pull-no-punches new film, "3 Billion and Counting," Sierra Club, Audubon Society and Environmental Defense Fund enlisted DDT in their own campaign, to get it banned. They said the chemical posed unacceptable risks to people, wildlife and the environment – and used pseudo-scientific cancer and ecological horror stories, like those in Rachel Carson's Silent Spring, to spook people, politicians and bureaucrats.

Along with Greenpeace, World Wildlife Fund, Pesticide Action Network and other eco activists, they portrayed themselves as white knight planetary guardians. Their true motives were far less virtuous. "If the environmentalists win on DDT," EDF scientist Charles Wurster told the Seattle Times, "they will achieve a level of authority they have never had before."

In short, the war on DDT was never about protecting people or birds. It was, and is,

Newsmax

- US General Killed in Afghan Attack Identified
- Palin Slams Jesse Ventura Over Lawsuit
- Putin Lashes Out at Sanctions as Poland Warns of Invasion Threat
- Wolf Blitzer Hits Hamas Spokesman for Blood Libel
- Should Obama Be Impeached? Vote Here
- Brand New Sleep-Aid Hits CVS
- Fed Steers Economy into Uncharted Territory
- Number One Fat Burner Used By Celebrities

What's This?

Isaiah's Garden

 Home of "We Believe"
Isaiahsgarden.com
 100% Freshly Extracted All Natural Juice

CFP Main Menu

- HOME
- Doug Hagmann's
- INSIDER REPORTS
- Most Recent CFP Columns
- Columnists' Archives
- Cover Stories
- Canada Politics
- American Politics
- American Freedom
- American Healthcare
- American Life, History
- Business, Financial
- Christianity - Religion
- Crime - Security
- Global Warming
- Energy - Environment
- Gun Control
- Media, Media Bias
- Science, Technology

- World News
- CFP Magazine
- Medical Pages
- Travel Pages
- Automotive Pages
- Weather - Gas - Markets
- CFP Cartoons
- Life, Pets, Gardens, Food
- Letters to the Editor
- Infrastructure

<script type="text/
</script><script ty

about power, control, money and ideology – regardless of the resultant human misery, disease and death.

For the new Environmental Protection Agency, it was about power and politics. As the greens' campaign to ban DDT intensified, EPA Administrator William Ruckelshaus convened a scientific panel, which held six months of hearings, compiled 9,312 pages of studies and testimony, and concluded that DDT was safe and effective and should not be banned.

Nevertheless, without attending a single hour of hearings or reading a page of the report, Ruckelshaus banned US production and use of DDT in 1972 – at a time when over 80% of the chemical was being exported for disease control. He later said his decision had nothing to do with cancer. He had a political problem, he said, and he fixed it. How nice for malaria victims.

Carcinogenic? The International Agency for Research on Cancer lists DDT as “possibly carcinogenic” – right up there with coffee and pickles. Among products that “definitely” cause cancer, it includes birth control pills and ethanol. Mice fed DDT got 26% fewer cancers than control mice. Another study found that DDT actually cured malignant brain tumors in rabbits. Millions of war survivors were sprayed directly on their bodies, without any harmful effects.

Bird eggshells? The original Bitman DDT studies involved diets that were 80% deficient in calcium; when the birds were fed proper diets, there was no thinning. Audubon Society annual Christmas bird counts recorded that bald eagle populations rose from 197 in 1941 to 891 in 1960, while robins increased from 19,616 to 928,639 over the same period – when America's DDT use was at its historic high.

Resistance? Mosquitoes have never become resistant to DDT's life-saving repellency properties, but they are developing resistance to the pyrethroids used in agriculture – and bed nets. Poisonous? People have tried to kill themselves with DDT – and failed. Its most common replacement, parathion, killed hundreds of people, who safety experts said were too used to handling DDT. But as Dr. Wurster once observed, it “only kills farm workers and most of them are Mexicans and Negroes.”

This modern, eco-style eugenics has since been broadened to the impoverished developing world, where DDT could reduce agony, brain damage, lost work hours, poverty and death – if it weren't so frequently banished due to green ideologues like Wurster and the Club of Rome's Alexander King, who worry more about over-population than human rights.

Thus the vicious cycle continues. Infected people are too sick to work, too poor to afford sprays or nets or get proper treatment. Ugandan activist Fiona Kobusingye lost her son, two sisters and four cousins to malaria. American expatriate Patrick O'Neal says every household in his Tanzanian village has lost at least one member of its extended family to malaria. On Sumba Island, Indonesia, one-third of all women have lost at least one child to malaria.

EDF and EPA lied. Millions of children died. How convenient, then, that UN Environment Program's Nick Nutter can deadpan, “when someone here dies from malaria, they say God has taken them” – not baby-killing policies. How convenient that Al Gore can blame malaria on manmade global warming.

This is environmental justice? The kind championed by President Obama and EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson? Eco activist groups get billions. The world's poor get disease and death. And EPA and the greens want to be put in charge of our energy, economy, jobs, living standards and lives.

How inconvenient for them when folks like Dr. Rutledge raise questions they really don't want to address. No wonder Ruckelshaus, Pesticide Action Network, USAID and EPA refused to grant him interviews. Stephanie from Pesticide Action did want to know who was funding the film. But when Dr. Rutledge said he was, she ended the conversation, without mentioning who funds PAN. (The Richard and Rhoda Goldman Foundation, among others.)

Three billion humans dead so far from malaria ... and counting. And green ideologues work tirelessly to ensure that the callous, needless global death toll continues to rise.

See this film. Tell your friends about it. Bring it to your college, club and local theater. It will make your blood boil, and change your perspectives forever about DDT and the radical environmental movement.

From Around the Web

Promoted Content

Entry Level Positions That Pay 6 Figures

\(1\) Weird Trick to KILL Teeth Stains

10 Celebs We Had No Idea Were Gay

Warning To Woodworkers!

These Images Are NOT Photoshopped

Are You Snoring Yourself to Death?

Caruba: Professional Writing Services

Costa Rica Homes for Sale

EQUIFAX CANADA

Get your Equifax Free Trial!

873

Get My FREE Score!

Freedom or Anarchy

Campaign of Conscience

Support the Veterans Project

Most Shared CFP stories
The Road to Hell Obama is taking the world down created by U.S. Catholic Bishops

VIDEO: Rick Perry reveals that Obama threatened governors at recent meeting

MS-13 gang members and jihadists let in over the border as children

Evidence Mounts of a Manufactured Border Crisis

Obama: No Consequences for Treason and America's final Destruction

Powered by AddThis

3 BILLION AND COUNTING
 the death toll is mounting...
www.3billionandcounting.com

DDT:
 the most loved
 AND most hated
 pesticide on the planet

“What the World Needs Now is DDT”
 -New York Times

QUAD Cinema
 34 West 13th Street * New York, New York 10011
 phone 212-255-2243
 September 17 thru 23, 2010
www.quadcinema.com

Pursuant to Title 17 U.S.C. 107, other copyrighted work is provided for educational purposes, research, critical comment, or debate without profit or payment. If you wish to use copyrighted material from this site for your own purposes beyond the 'fair use' exception, you must obtain permission from the copyright owner.

Views are those of authors and not necessarily those of Canada Free Press. Content is Copyright 1997-2014 the individual authors.

Site Copyright 1997-2014 Canada Free Press.Com Privacy Statement

Powered by ExpressionEngine

Scroll down this page for Disqus Comments

Paul Driessen is a senior fellow with the Committee For A Constructive Tomorrow and Center for the Defense of Free Enterprise, nonprofit public policy institutes that focus on energy, the environment, economic development and international affairs. Paul Driessen is author of Eco-Imperialism: Green power, Black death

Paul Can be reached at: letters@canadafreepress.com

Older articles by Paul Driessen

Sponsored From Around the Web

Controversial "Skinny Pill" Sweeps the Nation

Must-Have Golf Clubs Being Sold for Next to Nothing

How to Relieve Joint Pain

22 Shocking Celebrities Who Used To Be Young & Hot

Do THIS Before Appliance Shopping (Every Time)

74-Year-Old Outsmarts Doctors, Saves on Facelift

Controversy Over New Steroid Alternatives

REVEALED: How People Are Paying LESS THAN $24 For New Michael Kors Purses

Comments

Comments for this thread are now closed. X

0 Comments

Canada Free Press

9 Norah G Fon

Sort by Newest

Share Favorite

Be the first to comment.

ALSO ON CANADA FREE PRESS

WHAT'S THIS?

The Devolution of Belgium

4 comments • a day ago

AvatarWinston Jen — We don't need any morphine. We just need Zyklon ZZZ.

Evil and plain crazy not a healthy combination

24 comments • 17 hours ago

AvatarSnowcloud — You are so right, Judi. Pelosi seems like she's on Thorazine (treatment for ...

Netanyahu to Obama, Kerry: Don't second-guess me again

7 comments • 2 days ago

AvatarUSARetired — Sorry he held back! His response should have been much more sever, and ...

Pelosi flips out, chases 'insignificant' Representative ...

16 comments • 2 days ago

AvatarTotsy — You know this would be funny if it wasn't so sad. Sad, sad old woman losing control, that's ...

Subscribe

Add Disqus to your site

DISQUS

Celebrity Cruises Caribbean Vacations It's All Included.

Vacations with NON-STOP flights from Ottawa to Miami

VERANDAS FROM $2,040

Call us: 1-888-776-1155

Celebrity X Cruises® That's modern luxury™