

THE HUFFINGTON POST

Farrah Khan

RSS Feed

GET UPDATES FROM FARRAH KHAN

Farrah Khan is an Arctic Campaigner with Greenpeace Canada and has a decade of experience working in environmental advocacy, grassroots organizing, and documentary filmmaking.

Prior to joining Greenpeace, Farrah campaigned for nearly 7 years on behalf of the Canadian Association of Physicians for the Environment where she helped negotiate North America's strongest lawn pesticide ban, spoke out against coal and nuclear power, promoted renewable energy, and more.

Farrah has a degree in Political Science and Religion from the University of Toronto.

---

Entries by Farrah Khan

---

Biking to Save the Arctic With Greenpeace

(2) Comments | Posted September 13, 2013 | 5:07 PM

As autumn leaves start painting our cities in red and yellow, the Arctic sea ice is about to reach its yearly minimum. At this time last year, the world watched as the Arctic melt hit a record low and more ice disappeared than ever before. We watched and we woke...

Read Post