Founded in 1977 the Forstbauer Farm is a Certified Organic Farm in Chilliwack British Columbia, farmed using Biodynamic Principles through the Biodynamic Society of British Columbia (Demeter) and BCARA.

Beginning in the 1970's, Mary and Hans bought their first farm and started farming Organically. Decades later Forstbauer Farm is under the same passion and vision; mainly to grow healthy food, to be good stewards of the land and to share that passion with adults alike.

Twelve children were raised on the farm by Mary & Hans and many of them are still involved in the farm today, and several have of their own. Over a dozen grandchildren can now be seen busily scurrying around Forstbauer Farm on any given day.

We hope you enjoy our site, learn about our family and the food and how it is grown and raised on our farm.
